All the Nation
Honors Its
Defenders
Tomorrow

TOMORROW is Memorial Day—a truly great day in the history of our land.

Every citizen should join in the patriotic program in honor of the white-haired veterans of the G. A. R.—veterans of the Spanish-American and the World wars.

While Memorial Day was set aside in its inception as a day to do honor to the G. A. R., the past three years heroes of the World War have come into their share of the honors.

OBSEEVANCE throughout this country will take the form of pilgrimages to cemeteries to place flowers on the graves of all soldiers.

Those American soldiers sleeping in foreign soil will not be forgotten. All European cemeteries will be visited by the members of foreign Legion posts and the graves decorated with American flags and flowers. Prominent World War leaders from allied countries will take part in the memorial services held on foreign soil.

THERE will be two services in Glendale—one in the morning at 9 o'clock and the other in the afternoon. The morning service will be held at Grand View Cemetery, where a memorial service and the dedication of the American Legion plot will take place at about 10 o'clock.

The afternoon service will be held at Forest Lawn Cemetery at 1:30. Line of parade and order of services is given elsewhere in today's paper.

All Glendale in honor of the day should display the American flag and join in doing honor to those who have gone before.

E. M. TAYLOR WAS ARRESTED BY LOCAL FORCE

E. M. Taylor, 332 South Wilton Place, Los Angeles, who was arrested Saturday afternoon in connection with the alleged $200,000 stock fraud conspiracy, was captured by Glendale police instead of by Los Angeles officials, as stated in Los Angeles papers this morning. Detectives Royle and Simmons of the Glendale squad are the ones who captured Taylor. He was taken into custody by these officers at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the corner of Dryden and Louise. After being booked in the local police station, Taylor was turned over to the Los Angeles authorities, Glendale police declare.

When Taylor was first arrested his bail was fixed at $25,000, but this was later reduced to $7500 by Justice Baird, and this amount he furnished.

LOCAL GOLFERS TO ATTEND RED HILL CLUB CONTESTS

Members of the Oakland Country club of this city have been invited to witness a sensational golf tournament between four prominent women golfers of the Pacific coast—Mary Browne, Margaret Cameron, Doreen Kavanaugh and Mrs. Luther Kennett. May 31, at the Red Hill Country club, Upland. Play will start at 9 a. m. and terminate at 2:30. As it is seldom such a galaxy of golf stars can be seen together, it is an event of exceptional interest which will doubtless bring a large delegation from this city.

EXPOSITION ASKED TO REDUCE COST OF ADMISSION

At a special called meeting of directors of the chamber of commerce Monday evening, following the lead of the Glendale Merchants' Credit Association, a vote was taken to indorse the proposition to reduce the charge for entrance tickets to the Merchants' Exposition.

CERRITOS GIRLS CARRY OFF HONORS

Members of the girls and boys' indoor baseball teams of the Cerritos avenue school again carried off the honors at several games played yesterday. The senior girls team won by a score of 26 to 7 in a game played at Acacia avenue. The junior girls team defeated the Acacia avenue by a score of 54 to 2. The boys team played Broadway and won by a score of 9 to 3.

AEROPLANE SQUADRON AT FOREST LAWN

Afternoon Services to Be Marked by Circling Fliers

MOVING PICTURE PLAYS

Thousands Expected to Attend Where Many Are at Rest

Always has the memorial service at Forest Lawn been impressive and beautiful, but this year it will exceed in that respect all past Memorial days.

One of the pictures features will be the fleet of six aeroplanes from Clover Field, Santa Monica, commanded by Captain Herold, which will attend the parade from above on its line of march and which will circle the grounds during the ceremonies and cast flowers on the symbolic grave.

In this connection the local G. A. R. post will appoint a color guard to escort to the symbolic grave the beautiful flag to be presented by the Los Angeles chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution, upon which the G. A. R. will place the first wreath and be followed by other patriotic and civic organizations. There will be the usual volley by the firing squad, taps will be sounded and the benediction will be pronounced by Rev. C. R. Norton, patriotic instructor of the local post, and past department chaplain of the Department of California and Nevada.

It is probable that photographs of the scene will be made from the air. Also moving picture cameras will make films.

Many thousands of people will visit this great city of the dead, where 13,000 are sleeping.

FIREMEN BECOME AIRPLANE FANS

Chief Lankford and Thos. V. Philp Buy Machine

Pilot Jack Rand, who is an ex-army flyer, is giving instructions at the Glendale airport to Chief A. H. Lankford and Thomas V. Philp, members of the Glendale fire department, who are spending most of their leisure time at the field learning to pilot the airplane which they purchased last week. The plane is a JN4 type and has been painted a bright red, similar to the Glendale fire department trucks, with the letters G. F. D. painted in yellow.

So, Glendale, the fastest growing city in America, will have the distinction of being one of the first cities to have an airplane available for use in connection with its fire department.

Mattison B. Jones to Be Host to the Governor of Nevada

Hon. James J. Scrugham, governor of Nevada, who is to make the chief address at the dedication of the American Legion Memorial plot in connection with the Memorial day services at Grand View Wednesday morning, will be the luncheon and afternoon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones at their home on Kenneth road. The governor will be accompanied by Mrs. Scrugham.

JONES TO HANDLE THE SEWER DEAL

Enlists in City Service Without Compensation and Is Accepted

BE SPECIAL COUNSEL

Eagle Rock Permitted to Send Garbage Thru Glendale

Attorney Mattison B. Jones was, on motion of Councilman Davis, at the meeting of the council last night appointed to serve as special counsel in the consideration of the sewer contract between Glendale and Los Angeles, which will be drawn up and submitted within two weeks. When asked if he would assist Glendale in this matter Attorney Jones said that he would be glad to do so if the city would accept his services free of charge—that he would, under no circumstances, accept compensation for work of this character for Glendale. The resolution adopted by the council last night is as follows: "Resolved by the council of the city of Glendale, that Mattison B. Jones be and is hereby appointed as special counsel for the city of Glendale, serving without compensation to act in the pending negotiations, with the city attorney and city council of Los Angeles in the proposed sewer connection with the city of Los Angeles."

At the meeting of the Los Angeles city council Monday, when that body authorized its city attorney to draw up the necessary contract, Attorney Jones was one of the principal speakers, and his argument did much to bring the proposition clearly to those who were present.

The ex-city clerk of Eagle Rock appeared before the board with regard to the garbage wagons of that place running through Glendale, and it was decided to permit them to do so providing the wagons are covered.

A deed to a strip of land at the way to make place for the bridge that will be constructed by the Edwards & Wilde company at Concord and Patterson, was tentatively accepted.

A permit was granted to Mrs. Allen Anderson to operate a rest home at the Thorneycroft Hospital at 1100 East Windsor road.

Permissions to operate rest homes were granted to Mrs. Mary B. Meyer at 224½ North Belmont, and Catherine H. Johnson at 136 Franklin Court.

E. L. Fleming was awarded the contract for the improvement of Ard Even, Ben Lomond and Glenwood roads.

A petition for the opening and widening of Garfield and Windsor from Verdugo road east was received and the next step in this work was ordered taken.

MONDAY SHOPPING REPORTS SHOW APPROVAL

Merchants and Shoppers Find Point of Contact and Time Established

BY JENNIE SWENSON

On every hand the word comes that Monday's shopping was a huge success, the merchants testifying to the fact that there were more people buying, more new people in their stores, and more interest shown in Glendale business than any previous occasion in the history of Glendale.

At an early hour there were more shoppers on the streets than had previously been seen during the busiest hours on a Monday. The advertiser, who had not advertised formerly on Saturdays, noticed, according to his own word, a most encouraging increase in his business, and those who had made a practice of advertising on Saturdays and who went into the shopping campaign vigorously, due to their belief in its merits, are reporting a Monday sale of goods that they had believed to be impossible.

That is the merchants' side of the story. Hundreds of shoppers were pleasantly surprised at the values found in the local stores. Many had never patronized local firms before, and in finding their tastes exactly suited, and the prices right, expressed highest approval of the campaign forwarded by the merchants to establish a Glendale Monday shopping day.

Wherever the sign of Monday shopping appeared a steady patronage was enjoyed, according to reports. It proved to be the instrumentality in bringing the shopper and the merchant together under the bonds of cordial business relationship.

Many were the predictions as to the incalculable good that such a campaign is to mean to all of Glendale. The satisfaction of repaid efforts went to the merchants, after the busy day had passed quickly, and the pleasure of finding their wants satisfied, sent the shopper home with kindly feelings toward the merchants, toward Glendale and toward the world in general.

As a result the housewives are all talking Monday shopping. Their surprise, their satisfaction, their saving of time through being able to consult a direct guide to

An estimate contest was started immediately upon the completion of the house-plan competition. This will close Saturday night and the winners will be announced at the exposition.

The Security company will make an estimate on the cost of constructing the winning building. This will be sealed in an envelope and placed in the bank. The person coming nearest to the estimate will be awarded a $50 prize.

SEVEN CANDIDATES ARE INITIATED BY ELKS LODGE

Thanatopsis Is Put on for the First Time in Local Home

Initiation of a class of seven candidates for membership in the Glendale lodge and two for other lodges was the important feature of the regular meeting of the Elks, held Monday night. The initiatory work was conferred on John M. Collins, Dr. James A. Belyea, Dr. David A. Baker, Roger W. Jessup, Judge Sidney N. Reeves of San Diego, Max B. Wilson of San Fernando and Harry C. Sausbury for Glendale, George B. Morrison for Athens, O., and Abraham Abrahams of Brooklyn, N. Y. Judge Reeves made a short talk, which was very well received.

For the first time since the lodge has been in its own home on East Colorado street, "Thanatopsis" was put on. The work last night was most excellently done by Past Exalted Ruler Arthur H. Dibern, assisted by seven members of the organization. There were about 300 members present at last night's meeting, which was followed by the usual lunch and an entertainment put on by colored minstrels from Pasadena.

MRS. ANNA FRASER SUCCEUMS FROM EXHAUSTION

Sister of J. Hartley Taylor of Eagle Rock Passes Away

Following the nervous prostration coming when she fainted at her mother's funeral more than a month ago, Mrs. Anna Fraser, 54, sister of J. Hartley Taylor of Eagle Rock, passed away early last evening at her home on Elm street, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Fraser, who became ill following her mother's death, had been on the verge of death several times during her illness, doctors having relinquished all hope of her recovery. Her condition was believed to have been improved a short time ago and she left the residence of J. Hartley Taylor, 811 West Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, for her home in Los Angeles, where she succumbed last night.

Mrs. Fraser, who had been widowed for several years, is survived by a son and a daughter, the latter receiving her diploma from Pomona college this year. Mrs. A. R. Rose, 211 North Adams, is a sister-in-law to the deceased. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

just the place for the particular object of their shopping tour, has formed a plan for neighborly discussion all over the city.

And here are some of the things the merchants have said in regard to the day. Space does not permit of quoting the statements of all, but a general idea of the day's success.

"It was the best Monday we have had in the history of the store," said Richard H. Smith, manager of Pendroy's. "Even during the early hours we did a brisk business. In our yard goods department there was scarcely a dull moment throughout the day. In departments where we had not advertised special values the trade showed a corresponding increase. You cannot emphasize too strongly our faith in this campaign, and we are going into it stronger than ever, and use our influence to draw every merchant into the game, to work for the better interests of Glendale. Our customers, many of whom I personally questioned, are more than pleased with the move on the part of the merchants and agree to endorse it to their friends."

"Monday was the best day since our opening," said C. H. McBurney, manager of Ferber's. "Excellent sales are shown in every department, and we are backing this campaign tooth and nail. It's a great thing for everyone concerned. The fact that there were many new customers who admitted that it was their first visit to our store was especially encouraging. All promised to get the Monday shopping habit."

ALLEGED BIKE

Ricardo Martinez, who was arrested Saturday in Glendale on a charge of stealing a bicycle from the Buffalo Dye Works, was sentenced yesterday afternoon by Judge Lowe to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Mrs. Brown's poor husband had unfortunately been laid up for six months. But the glad news that he was on the high road to recovery had come at last.

"I'm so glad to hear that your husband is getting better," remarked a kindly lady to Mrs. Brown one day.

"Well, so am I. He was getting along so nicely last week, but now the doctor says he's got the convalescence. Isn't it hard lines?"

LEGION MEN TO FORM SOCIETY UNIT HERE

"Playground" Body of World War Veterans
to Initiate

American Legion men from every post in Los Angeles county will assemble at the local Legion hall at 610 East Broadway on Thursday night, May 31, to initiate the Glendale, Burbank and Eagle Rock Legion men in the La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux. This organization is known as the "playground society of the American Legion." Only one vote is allowed each county, so in that way it brings together the former service men from all sections of the county for a good time. Grand Chief of Gare, Herbert J. Simon, who is the chief of all veterans in California, is coming to Glendale and will be accompanied by Grand Correspondent Ben Shenberg.

Several "goofs," as the candidates are called, will be initiated. A few Glendale Legion men have already taken the work at the monster promenade recently held at El Segundo in honor of National Correspondent Howard E. MacDonald, while he was in the southwest on his way home from a national meeting in Kansas City, where the big program of the organization for taking care of orphans of ex-service men was formulated.

National Sous Chevin de Fer, Clarence Cronkite, who also attended the Kansas City meeting, and who will be in charge of the orphans' program in California, will be in Glendale Thursday night and explain the plan of the Veterans' Welfare committee of the 40 and 8. The initiatory work at the Glendale promenade will be put on by Chief de Gare A. W. Smith of the Los Angeles County Unit No. 47. He will bring his crack working crew, in charge of Dr. J. C. Conner and their carload of props. A large body of the Los Angeles county coyotes, as the members are called, will also come to Glendale to the big celebration from almost all the 43 Legion posts of this county.

La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux was organized in 1926 by a group of Legionnaires who felt that the formal meetings of the American Legion did not provide an outlet for the fun-making tendencies of the ex-soldier, sailor and marine. At the Kansas City national convention the society had grown to be such a success that it was officially designated as a social auxiliary body of the Legion. What the Shrine is to Masonry, the 40's society is to the Legion.

The national organization now has a membership of approximately 160,000 and has more than 500 Local Chapters in various sections of the country. It is also organized in Mexico, Canal Zone and the Hawaiian Islands. It takes its name from the French railway cars in which the American soldiers were transported during the war. The cars were marked "40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux" 40 men and 8 horses. Only white male American Legion members in good standing who have performed some distinguished service for the Legion are eligible to become members of the 40-8.

WORKING TO-DAY FOR TOMORROW FERBER'S The Store of the Town

A Misrepresentation

We understand that talk is going about town to the effect that the goods shown by the Ferber Co. Saturday night at the Exposition Fashion Show were only imported from the Fashion Show.

We want the people to know that this is not true and that each and every garment was taken from our own stock and garments that have not been sold since the show may be seen right in our ready-to-wear section any day.

To back this up we offer

FAMOUS MRS. FAIR AT THE GLENDALE

The latest whims of fashion are shown by the feminine members of the cast of the Fred Niblo production, "The Famous Mrs. Fair," based on the great American play by James T. Ford, now at the Glendale theatre. Myrtle Stedman, Marguerite De La Motte, Helen Ferguson and Carmel Myers wear several wraps and gowns that are stunning creations.

One of the capes worn by Miss Stedman is an evening wrap of platinum gray hare, a Parisian novelty that is quite distinctive. Another beautiful wrap worn by the same actress is a luxurious cape of ermine, cut on flaring, circular lines and trimmed with ermine tails.

AEOLIAN MUSIC CLUB MEETS AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, May 29.—The regular meeting of the Aeolian Music club was held at the home of Henrietta Beiscar of North Los Angeles avenue last Friday evening, May 25. Mrs. C. W. Angier, Mrs. W. Singleton and Miss Ruth Leary were voted active members during the business meeting. The program of unusual interest was given by Arthur Crowell, Robert Keelo, Marian Keith, pianists, and by special request of the club, Mrs. H. R. Tritt, violinist, and Miss Marguerite Hauber, pianist, played several selections. Miss Hauber sang a group of Indian songs with violin obligato, and her piano solos by Sibellus and Kreisler were greatly enjoyed. One of the happy features of the evening were several songs by Mr. Henry Beiscar. They were original compositions, composed and harmonized by his daughter, Mildred Beiscar. The music was Slavonian melodies very typical of the country and customs. The program was closed by several old favorites sung by club members. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Tritt in Montrose, the third Friday in June.

OPTIMIST CLUB ENJOYS OUTING

LA CRESCENTA, May 29.—Forty members of the Optimist Club of Pasadena and their families enjoyed a day of outdoor sports at Onondaka ranch, the home of H. A. Baldrige last Sunday. Swimming, tennis, riding over the Onondaka trails and a game of baseball were happy features of the day's outing.

"MAIN STREET" TO OPEN TONIGHT AT THE T. D. & L.

The announcement of the T. D. & L. theatre management that "Main Street," a screen adaptation of Sinclair Lewis' novel describing the small town, will be shown for three days, beginning today, will be hailed by all motion picture enthusiasts as an event out of the ordinary run of things. This because of the discussion, pro and con, awakened by the story, which was the most widely discussed in the history of the literary world during the past few years.

Florence Vidor and Monte Blue have the featured parts, the former as Carol Kennicott, the young girl burning with new ideas and the desire to make Gopher Prairie adopt them, and the latter as Dr. Kennicott, her husband. The picture is said to follow the book with fidelity.

Briefly, the story centers about Carol, about whom tongues begin to wag in connection with her friendship for Erik Valborg, a young dreamer, the only person in the town sympathizing with Carol. She goes her way, mindless of the gossip, trying to make the town advanced and new-fangled.

A Misrepresentation

We understand that talk is going about town to the effect that the goods shown by the Ferber Co. Saturday night at the Exposition Fashion Show were only imported from the Fashion Show.

We want the people to know that this is not true and that each and every garment was taken from our own stock and garments that have not been sold since the show may be seen right in our ready-to-wear section any day.

DECORATION DAY

Tomorrow is Memorial Day.

Another opportunity is afforded the folks of Glendale to show their love and gratitude to the soldier heroes who started this country on its triumphant march of freedom, and who have, since that eventful "tea party," kept it headed straight and true along the course that has led this nation to greatness.

One more opportunity is given for those who appreciate what has been done by the war heroes who have suffered and bled and died for their beloved flag, who have given their lives for "the cause," who have made the supreme sacrifice for their God and their home, to do honor to those who have so valiantly upheld the standards of our nation and helped her to retain her high standards and her lofty ideals.

It is but a simple thing to place a few flowers on the graves of those whose sacrifice has been so great, but it is not the mere act of spreading the blossoms that truly expresses our feelings—it is the idea behind the act, the very fact that the deeds and sacrifices of those who have gone before are not forgotten.

Let us give credit to whom it is due.

Let us all gather at the Glendale memorial parks tomorrow and do "our bit."

SCOUT SEARLE IS HONORED BY
COMRADESFifty Act As Guard of Honor and Pall Bearers
at Funeral

With more than fifty Glendale Boy Scouts acting as guard of honor and the pallbearers were all boys who had been closely associated with him in his troop, Scout Robert M. Searle was laid to rest Monday. At the grave in the Forest Lawn cemetery the Scouts formed a half circle and in the presence of all his friends they gave the scout oath for their brother scout, Robert M. Searle. Reverend O. P. Rider gave the benediction which was followed by the blowing of taps by Bugler Floyd Craft. The services were in charge of Reverend F. Winnard, pastor of the Tropic Presbyterian Church, in the Little Church of the Flowers.

On May 7, 1916, at the age of twelve, Searle joined Troop No. 1, Glendale (Tropic), Boy Scouts of America, and had been affiliated with the troop actively even up to the last. He served in practically every office in the troop including scribe, treasurer, assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, senior patrol leader and at the time of his death he was serving as assistant scoutmaster. He worked unduly hard when a Scout and achieved the highest rank that can be conferred on any boy belonging to the Boy Scouts of America, that of Eagle Scout. It is largely through his efforts that Troop No. 1 claims and has the honor of being the oldest standing troop of Boy Scouts in the state of California for all during his seven years of service in the Boy Scout movement he has held his troop together against every obstacle and discouragement.

In the first part of 1922 he became assistant Scoutmaster and his immediate success as a Scout leader was due to his complete understanding of boy nature and a personality which enabled him to lead. The boys all loved and respected him and the community was watching with pride the commendable work he was doing. While on a hike with his troop on Saturday, May 19, he became ill and Mr. Hal E. Leedom, another assistant scoutmaster of the troop decided that he had better be sent home. His condition was not considered real serious until Sunday evening when he became delirious and rapidly grew worse until it was thought best to send him to a Los Angeles hospital. In spite of every medical care and the kindly ministrations of his friends and his mother, he died at 1 o'clock, Saturday morning, May 26th, just one week after taking ill. Although stocky in body his mind broke down his rigid constitution.

Robert had just recently joined the Presbyterian church where he had planned to take an active part in the young people's activities. He took life seriously and was one person whom responsibility could be trusted with.

The following resolution was passed by the executive board of the Verdugo Hills district council, Boy Scouts of America:

Resolved, that in the sudden and untimely death of Robert M. Searle, assistant Scoutmaster, Troop No. 1, Glendale, both the Boy Scouts and all Glendale have suffered an irreparable loss.

Resolved, that we recognized in him a promising young man who was a thorough Christian and one of the most competent leaders of boys we have ever seen, and one whose place it will be difficult to fill.

Resolved, that while we bow in submission to the Master's will, we extend to his dear, brave mother and brothers and sister our deep and heartfelt sympathy in their hour of sadness, and commend them to the loving care of the Master.

A. R. EASTMAN, President,

For the Executive Board, Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, the Great Scoutmaster has seen fit in His wisdom to call from our midst a real Scout, a true Christian citizen, and highly valued friend of boyhood, in the death of Robert M. Searle, and

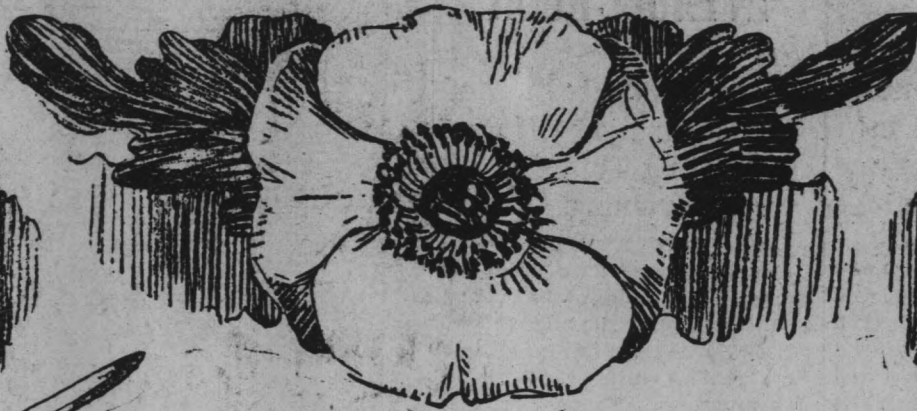

Whereas, a great vacancy has been created in the ranks of our Scout leaders, and

Whereas, the boyhood of Glendale has lost one of its staunchest friends, and the boys of Glendale are deeply appreciative of the effort our brother made to give boys a chance to grow into sturdy Christian manhood.

Therefore, be it resolved that in the death of Robert M. Searle, we have lost a brother who was all that a young man should be, faithful in his own duties, true to his Christian faith and a powerful influence among boys.

Be it Further Resolved, that the Troop Leaders' Roundtable of the Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America, on behalf of all the Scout leaders and boys under their supervision, express our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Searle and the brothers and sister, in their bereavement.

H. B. ROBISON, Chief Counsellor for the Troop Leaders' Roundtable, Verdugo Hills District Council, Boy Scouts of America.

In Flanders Fields

By JOHN McCRAE

IN FLANDERS FIELDS, THE POPPIES BLOW
BETWEEN THE CROSSES, ROW ON ROW
THAT MARK OUR PLACE; AND IN THE SKY
THE LARKS, STILL BRAVELY SINGING, FLY
SCARCE HEARD AMID THE GUNS BELOW.

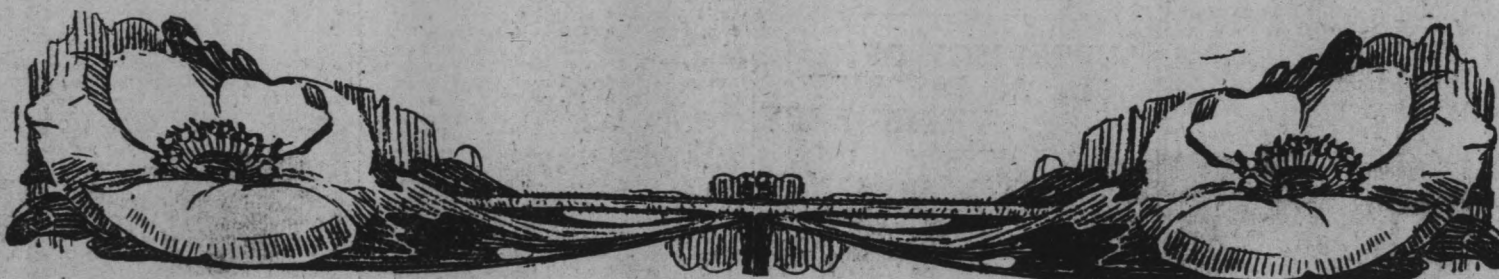

WE ARE THE DEAD. SHORT DAYS AGO
WE LIVED, FELT DAWN, SAW SUNSET GLOW,
LOVED AND WERE LOVED, AND NOW WE LIE
IN FLANDERS FIELDS.

TAKE UP OUR QUARREL WITH THE FOE.
TO YOU FROM FAILING HANDS WE THROW
THE TORCH; BE YOURS TO HOLD IT HIGH,
IF YOU BREAK FAITH WITH US WHO DIE
WE SHALL NOT SLEEP, THOUGH POPPIES GROW
IN FLANDERS FIELDS.

*Keep Faith with them. They are not dead.
They sleep. The spirit of their glorious sacrifice watches us. Have we forgotten?
No! A Thousand times—No!*

*Those khaki-clad lads of '17 and '18 did not hesitate when duty called them. They went. They conquered.
Let's you and I—fellow citizens of Glendale—not hesitate now to keep faith them.*

All Glendale will honor the Boys tomorrow who kept the faith on Flanders Fields.

MEMORIAL DAY IN EUROPE AND
U. S.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—(United Press).—On land and sea, in the cemeteries of America and Europe and in every community of the United States, members of the American Legion tomorrow will pay tribute to their fallen comrades and to the dead of other wars.

From the smallest post, where a handful of legionnaires will gather to decorate the graves in country cemeteries to the large cities where thousands will march in parade in commemoration of the day, the spirit will be one of remembrance of America's soldier dead.

This Memorial Day is of special significance to the Legion, as it marks the culmination of a nationwide campaign which the legion has conducted to raise a permanent endowment fund to provide for the annual decoration of graves of 32,000 war dead in Europe. The fund will reach $100,000 when all contributions have been received. It was announced at Legion headquarters.

Observances throughout the country will take the form of pilgrimages to cemeteries to place flowers on the graves of all soldiers. In the north, the legionnaires are taking up the duty of decorating the graves of Union veterans, relieving the thinning ranks of the G. A. R. from the duty they had religiously performed for many years. In the south, the legionnaires will decorate the graves of those who wore the gray.

Patriotic addresses will be given throughout the country and Legion members march in solemn parade in the uniforms they put aside more than four years ago.

America's soldiers sleeping in foreign soil will not be forgotten. All cemeteries in Europe will be visited by members of foreign legion posts. Prominent World war leaders from allied countries will gather with representatives of the United States government and other Americans in memorial services at the eight principal cemeteries in France, where the American war dead have been gathered.

Ships flying the American flag which were within the approximate zone of the submarine attacks, are to hold simple ceremonies in honor of the men who rest in unmarked graves in the depths of the ocean.

Minnesota legion posts will observe the day by planting hundreds of memorial trees on highways leading into their towns, each tree marks the name of a World war soldier who fell in battle.

Many posts in all parts of the country will dedicate memorial buildings and community centers which citizens have erected.

The French poppy, sacred from its war associations, will be worn by thousands. The national organization of the legion here supplied all posts with poppies which were sold, the proceeds to be used for the relief of sick veterans and for the decoration of graves.

AMERICAN STARS
WARM AND FEED
RUSSIANS

MOSCOW, Russia.—(By Mail).—“Beautiful are the stars in heaven, but they do not warm us. The stars in your American banner warm, feed and even clothe strangers.”

Vladimir Lvov Bogdanovsky, 63 years old, for twenty-six years secretary of the Russian Senate, has a wife 63 and a mother of 78 to support. They were all three hungry, hopeless with no prospect of aid on earth, when the Petrograd office of the American Relief Administration announced them as recipients of General Relief food package No. 11051. Whereupon M. Bogdanovsky wrote the tribute to Old Glory, from which the above is taken.

The American “ability to apply idealistic visions to the actualities of life” is the quality which touches M. Bogdanovsky.

“It exceedingly gladdens the heart,” he says, “to receive unexpected help from unknown donors and from those from whom one has no right to expect it.”

“We have gladdened the hearts of many and many people we have disappointed, because our means were limited,” writes Donald Renshaw, district supervisor of the American Relief Administration in Petrograd, reporting to Colonel William N. Haskell of the distribution, “but we have not received a single complaint charging that the unworthy were being helped or accusing us of having been improperly influenced.”

ANSWER TO FLANDERS FIELD
(By WALTER FISHER)

On Flanders Fields your bodies fell,
The naked thing, the empty shell.

The You who answered to the call
Still live to teach us one and all
To keep the faith and keep it well.

You led the way, you still do lead,
And he is deaf and blind indeed,
Who does not hear you, does not see
Through you, Sweet Peace eternally.

In Flanders Fields your bodies lie,
You do not sleep, you did not die,
You live within us heart and soul
Your spirit drives us toward the goal
Ordained for us by Him on high.

COMMUNITY PLAY ORGANIZATION HAS PICNIC

General Out-door Good Time Enjoyed by Members of Footlight Club

A real old picnic, with basket lunches, ham sandwiches, pickles, olives, deviled eggs, and dancing in the big barn afterwards, with hiking about the pleasant woody paths later was the order of the day for the entire membership of the Community Player's organization on Sunday.

Five machine-loads of enthusiastic embryo stars from the various community productions, with the willing stage hands, managers, directors, executive force, and all the "powers that be," behind those who stand in the Community Play spotlight most of the time, went to La Crescenta where they had a hilarious good time from their arrival there, until the return home in the evening. They spent most of the day on a large ranch about two miles out of La Crescenta, and greatly enjoyed their impromptu dance in the big barn-lodge where

$250 Bond Put Up by Professor Chandler

Professor C. E. Chandler, 1011 Woodrow avenue, who was intercepted by a traffic officer on a charge of exceeding the speed limit in Camarillo, Ventura county, California, the early part of May, has announced that he will make a test case of the charge. He questioned the charge of the Ventura officer that his machine was going faster than the limit set where he was arrested.

Professor Chandler failed to appear in the Ventura county court on the date set for his visit there by the arresting officer, and in consequence a warrant was issued by Judge J. E. Conrad with cash bail set at four dollars. Officer McMahon of the local force called upon Professor Chandler in his classroom at Occidental College on the 25th of May, and requested that he either pay the bail or come to the City Hall and arrange for his bond. Professor Chandler chose the latter course. After discussing the case with the local authorities, he decided to test the case in a higher court.

As a consequence W. A. Feister and E. E. Bowen became bondsmen for Professor Chandler to the extent of $250 bail bond.

A piano was conveniently placed for musically inclined members of the club to furnish the necessary melodies.

ANNUAL CLEAN-UP IS INSTITUTED IN EAGLE ROCK

Schools' Students Enlisted in Campaign; Mass Meeting Thursday Evening

Captain Ernest Rhoads, of the Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety, instituted the "Clean-Up" campaign for Eagle Rock at the Central school yesterday afternoon. He spoke before all the grades from the fourth through the eighth, and enlisted every student, not alone in the fire prevention campaign which the Los Angeles department continually keeps up throughout all the districts under its jurisdiction, but requested their services in organizing and putting over the work in Eagle Rock beginning the latter part of this week. This will be carried on next week until every vacant piece of property in Eagle Rock, which at present is a fire menace and the source of frequent alarm to residents, and unnecessary disturbance and work for the fire-fighters, is burned off properly. No section will be overlooked. One lot after another will be gone over and cleaned up until there will no longer be any danger of fire. Every organization in Eagle Rock is behind the movement.

The fire-menace here has become so serious that some means of alleviating the existing condition is imperative. Whether or not an ordinance should be passed forcing residents to go to the expense of having their properties cleaned, or whether such a campaign as is under way could be carried out with proper cooperation from citizens was discussed by those in charge of fire-prevention, and this latter course was decided upon. Through the assistance of the Boy Scouts, and men detailed to oversee the work, the Clean-up campaign will be instituted here as an annual affair. The firemen will back it and stand by with proper protection in case fires get beyond the control of the workers. But this condition is being carefully guarded against by Captain Rhoads, who told the school pupils yesterday that their part of the work is the construction of the necessary number, and proper kind, of firebreaks. He asked them to carry the message home to their parents that everyone who wishes his lot cleaned by the workers has only to get out the hoe and shovel and throw up the trenches against the spread of the flames to fences and sheds or other buildings.

Captain Rhoads went further in the work yesterday than merely organizing the boys and girls as workers in this campaign. He showed them through a stereopticon lecture just what danger lies in carelessness with matches, in the burning away of shrubs and forest growths from mountain sides. He explained the sufficing and poverty attendant upon the loss of the home, on the loss of the plant, which furnishes the employment for the provider of the family. He showed them many interesting slides of burning oil-refineries, railways, manufacturing, and grass fires.

After the lecture Captain Rhoads brought out his paraphernalia and showed the students the danger that exists in the improper handling of gasoline for cleaning purposes, and the danger that lies in little home commodities such as celluloid hairpins, candles, stove and shoe polish, and the kitchen staples, cornstarch, powdered sugar, and flour. He illustrated every point in his talk, and explained how many fires are caused in a city the size of Los Angeles through accidents brought about in the use of these apparently harmless and non-combustible articles.

Captain Rhoads asked each pupil to carry the fire-prevention message home to his parents and to invite them to be present at the mass-meeting in the school auditorium Thursday evening at eight o'clock when the fire department of Los Angeles will be represented, and members of every community organization in Eagle Rock will be present to give their verbal support to the clean-up campaign. The Eagle Rock Improvement Association is circulating handbills throughout the Eagle Rock district to invite every citizen in the valley to attend on Thursday evening and prove that they are in favor of having the clean-up carried on every year.

This morning Captain Rhoads repeated his message at the East and West End schools.

SUPERVISOR OF L. A. DISTRICT VISITS HERE

Mr. Schaffer, supervisor of the Los Angeles district, visited the Eagle Rock schools yesterday. He looked over the local conditions with a view to the future, and stated that while he is more than sorry that the local bond issue fell through, it will be some time before Eagle Rock can be provided with all the buildings and educational facilities which are becoming more necessary with every new family that settles here.

Mr. Schaffer did look over the condition of the bungalows at Central school carefully, and he decided that it will be necessary to provide another roof over them to keep out the heat of the sun's rays during the warm school days.

Could anything better express our love and respect for those that are living as well as our honored dead?

Our display of both Cut Flowers and Potted Plants is ample to allow choosing to meet your needs.

IN MEMORIAM

From the little villages of far off north, the healed hamlets of the south, the lonely stretches of the great west, where the clamor is stilled and the great underlying thought of the nation can be heard, come the great warning tones, so like a diastole throb—"Remember your heroic dead."

In the memory of the heroes of a nation lives the virility of a nation.

A nation which forgets the vicarious sacrifices to its ideals loses those ideals and is forgotten—lost under the building up of years upon years, centuries upon centuries.

So Glendale today, peopled by those freshly come from out the traditional east, carries on the sacred traditions of the nation. It remembers those who, flag-wrapped in the soil that gave them birth, year by year are exalted in the haloed splendor of those that served the nation. The sins they may have had are lost in the eternal light of the sacrifice they have made.

Befogging stars that light the way,
For sunset only brings us closer
To the dawn of another day.

And chill winter winds of sorrow,
Though they rend the heart with pain,
Only mean that ~~sunlight~~ ^{sunlight} is here
Hope eternal lives again.

Memorial Day

Let every American bring the full measure of reverence and gratitude to the heroes who made the supreme sacrifice on behalf of the nation! From Lexington to the Argonne, the defenders of American honor and security have well deserved our grateful remembrance. In honoring these heroic dead on Memorial Day, we honor ourselves and our noble country.

So, first, let us pay sincerest tribute to our departed heroes

On Wednesday, May 30, 1923, at 10:30 a. m., the dedication of the American Legion plot—11,000 graves of the defenders of American honor and security—will take place at Grand View Memorial Park.

No man can give up his life in our defense and be forgotten. He is and should be remembered every day in the year. Memorial Day is the one day in the year when we set aside our other plans and give to the departed our fullest appreciation of their sacrifice.

Perhaps They will know of our presence at the Dedication—perhaps but One will know—but will our time be wasted? NO!

There will be a program of reverence planned by such men as Commander Leonard Wilson of the Inter Post, Commander J. W. McKinley of Los Angeles Post No 8, and Commander Robert L. Henley of Victory Post No. 54.

The chief speaker is not only a great Legionaire, but also has the honor of being the first citizen of his state.

The Legion Posts of all Los Angeles County have looked forward to this event and it is to be remembered as one of the greatest Memorial Days ever revered in the West.

Our presence is necessary to make this great occasion a success, so we shall be there.

Will you?

THE COMMON PURPOSE

In speaking to a gathering of educators, President Harding expressed regret at the lack of a definite common purpose, "a commanding and dominant national interest" such as seems to be lacking now.

There was such an interest during the war. Not the slightest wish could be felt for another war to rekindle the fires of patriotic zeal. It cannot be that the mind has become so impoverished as to be unable to discern anything fit to be erected into a common purpose, unless this shall be revealed in the flames of combat.

As the President affirmed, democracy is not on trial, although certain institutions, the presence of which is due to democracy, may be on trial. Democracy has given to this country the best type of government. Under the constitution it has granted liberty and assured opportunity. The people of the United States do not dream of essaying adventures into experimental government; they regard their own as firmly established, and they do not desire it disturbed. Occasionally they get angered by the queer persons who talk about overturning law and society, but generally these are regarded as amusing, or at the worst, annoying in mosquito fashion.

In making this government realize the best ideals of the men who founded it, there surely is afforded the chance to support a common cause; a vital cause. It is essential that justice be equal. It cannot be equal if one class is to exploit another class, if labor and capital are to fight, and do their fighting across the shoulders of the inoffensive public. There arises a great need for leadership, for competent and honest and patriotic men in legislatures and in congress, and in all civic or public office.

The world itself needs leadership. Because the United States is big and strong and rich, the world has been looking to it. There has not been adequate response. There has been the shirking of duty. In great international problems, there has been no voice raised with absolute authority. In instances in which the solution should have been immediate, statesmen have wrangled shamelessly, each seeking to serve his own petty ends.

The common purpose of Americans, were they to name it as the desire for devoted citizenship; not all selfish, not all colored by local prejudice or desire, but broad as the world, would inspire them with enthusiasm, and win them the respect of all lands. No reason appears why they should not have such purpose.

THE DEFILING TOUCH

"He that toucheth pitch shall be defiled therewith."

A man for a long time prominent in the apprehension of criminals in Los Angeles, has now himself been arraigned. He is accused of various crimes, all growing out of his intimate contact with the underworld. He became acquainted with its denizens, familiar with their methods; he caught glimpses of their booty, and was given the opportunity to share it. Apparently the temptation was too great for him. He has the right to make open defense, and it is not proper that his case should be tried by newspapers. Assuming for the moment, however, that the accusations are well founded, it is possible to look upon the case as typical of a large number. Solomon was right. "He that toucheth pitch shall be defiled therewith."

Men of honest intent undertake the duty of fighting crime. It may be that their enthusiasm leads them into a special field. They may believe that pernicious literature or art needs suppression. In the end almost invariably, they reach a level no higher than that of the original offenders. Peace officers, zealous and devoted for a time, year after year risk their lives in the pursuit of criminals. Then some of them succumb to the noxious atmosphere in which they work. They lose sight of the ideals that may have inspired them at the beginning. They yearn for quick gains, for "easy money." They prey upon the victims gathered in by their activities. They are at the same time preying upon society; accepting pay for services they do not perform; breaking down safeguards it is their duty to maintain.

A saddening spectacle appears each time a trusted man shows himself unworthy. "No legacy is so rich as honesty." Without this quality, possessed in full measure, none is fit to serve as buttress between the public and its sinister foes. To find such men is a problem. Unless they can be found the reign of the underworld is not to be broken.

GOVERNOR SMITH EMBARRASSED

Governor Al. Smith of New York has in his hands for veto or approval, a bill repealing the prohibition enforcement law. The intimation is that he will veto, and let the matter be taken up by the people of the state. He is in a very embarrassing position. The wets, whom he is supposed to represent, would be indignant at a veto. On the other hand the protests against repeal are descending in a veritable avalanche upon the executive mansion. Governor Smith, taking the most optimistic view of his situation, must recognize that he stands between opposing forces, and is in danger of getting smashed.

Doubtless the people of New York city are not in favor of prohibition. This is made clear by the manner in which they defy it. In a great majority of states laws have been enacted in precise harmony with the prohibition amendment. The commonwealth that refuses to maintain such a law, expresses a desire to be a law unto itself. In the absence of friendly legislation, the entire machinery of enforcement would remain with the federal government, while the state government would be unfriendly rather than neutral. Probably in the end the federal government would be quite equal to the task. There will be prohibition even in New York city so long as the amendment so providing remains in the constitution, where it was placed by proper methods, as embodying the will of the majority.

This country voted for prohibition. It has not changed its mind. The governor of a state, if he thinks to flout the sentiment of a nation at the behest of a coterie of home politicians, would indeed, be presumptuous in supposing that in aspiring to higher office, he could command national support.

For some time cities around Los Angeles have maintained musical functions known as "community sings." The big town has caught the idea and seems to be doing well with it.

An autoist at Sacramento, who ran over a man, and then speeded away, the victim being fatally injured, has been found guilty of manslaughter. The fact that he tried to escape could not have failed to establish belief in his guilt.

It's hard for most of us to be good when we have a chance not to.

It's neck or nothing with the giraffe.

Civilization and Damocles' Sword

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

That civilization as we know it is in a bad way most of us admit. Some people are glad of it because they don't like civilization; it's too straining.

But a majority of those who are sounding the tocsin think pretty well of such civilization as we have achieved and would like to see it continue. Because of this a writer whose warnings I have just been reading deplores the high rate of birth among the children of janitors, boiler makers, dance hall keepers, common laborers and garbage men, and the paucity of infants in the homes of professors, bankers, authors, editors and others of high intellectual degree.

"The sixth annual report of the birth statistics of the United States" reveals the sad fact that when lawyers and judges have any families they have only 2.2 children apiece. Other intellectual classes similarly offend and through this falling off of the children among the fit the race is losing leadership. We read:

"America is doing what every civilization has done since the twilight of the gods. For this reason we read their history only in their ruins." True enough, beyond doubt, and as sad as true; yet I wonder if the rise and fall of civilization is not part of the rhythm of evolution. It is certain that in spite of the decay of countless civilizations the race has made progress steadily upward. No matter how many leaders die, new leaders are born. No matter how many civilizations perish new civilizations rise and flourish on the ruins of those which were.

Our writer feels appalled that within a measurably short time we shall have in this country a race trying to get along without its Adamases, Lees, Lowells, Randolphs, Perrys and similar leaders.

No doubt for a time mediocrity will have its inning, but where in the first place did genius come from? From its fathers, say the alarmists.

Yes, but was there not a far away time when nobody on earth had attained to the intellectual status of our own departed morons?

Before me lies Wells' Outline of History and in it I read of the Neanderthal men, the Reindeer men, the Paleolithic men, and of those strange and terrifying creatures, the sub-men. None of them were like us, yet they covered the earth and from them in some strange and tortuous way came those races which in the course of countless millions of years produced civilizations and cultures, bred wisely and fitly.

It is always a painful thought to the cultured that culture may not endure; it seems too precious and hard won a treasure to lose. But if genius and leadership came through our ancestors of the stone and glacial ages, may not there be somewhere a spirit strong enough to develop new leaders, new geniuses from the descendants of our despised masses?

Birth control wisely exercised will no doubt help stabilize society and it can be a valuable factor in saving to the world what the world can ill afford to lose, still even if every genius, every man and woman of culture, every vigorous constructive person on earth failed to reproduce, that spirit which through the ages whipped men up from the creatures of "squatting place" and slime to a status that compels admiration and at times reverence, will continue to move on the surface of the dark waters.

From somewhere will come genius and leadership, but it will come slowly and with pain. If we can salvage what we have, good; if not, those who come after will suffer. But the race will not perish. It is needed for some inscrutable purpose, else it would not have lived through all the pain ignorance and terror that have escorted its members along the evolutionary way dolorosa.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

CONCERNING "TRANSPIRE"
"Kindly inform me," writes L. Griedlaid, "whether the verb transpire has the same meaning as the verb perspire in the latter's usual sense of sweat. In other words, is it correct to say 'I transpired, meaning I sweated'?"

Transpire means to exhale an odor or to give off watery vapor or gasses. Leaves transpire fluid. On the other hand, it is possible to use the word as follows: We caused it to transpire venomous vapors. Another example is the following: It was transpiring quicksilver at every pore.

One may talk of a volatile subject transpiring; as the water transpires through the jars to an earthen vessel underneath. But it is obsolete to speak of transpire as perspire (unless one is making the effort to render literally the French transpirer).

Transpire, figuratively, means to become known from secrecy through obscure channels. According to all dictionaries, the word is misused for happen; as, The accident transpired on the twenty-fifth of May; and is obsolete when used for a lapse of time; as Six months had transpired.

The word mural is used in connection with any object that is supported by a wall; growing or placed on or against a wall; as, mural tablet; mural fruit; mural remains. A mural cliff is one resembling a wall; vertical; steep.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

You've met him.
He is not an unfamiliar figure.
The man who could have invented the steam engine.

JAMES W. FOLEY

Who could have gone
Edison one better.
Who could have accomplished a thousand and one things better than they ever were done.

But—
He did not "have the mind to do it," as the boys say on the street.

You find him on the field of athletics.
The fellow who could have done any one of a score of things better than it was done.

Who could have run faster.
Jumped higher.
Vaulted further.

But—
He simply did not have the mind to do it.

In business he is also.
He could have reared a bigger store.
Done a bigger business.
Made a larger fortune.
Established and run a bigger bank.

But—
He did not have the mind to do it.

Meaning that he did not have the inclination.

He did not care to try.
But the things he could have done if he had tried!

Goodness!
The world would be astounded by them.

Songs of the Poets

The Secret—By George Edward Woodberry

Nightingales warble about it
All night under blossom and star;
The wild swan is dying without it,
And the eagle crieth afar;
The sun, he doth mount but to find it,
Searching the green earth o'er;
But more doth a man's heart mind it—
O more, more, more!

Over the gray leagues of ocean
The infinite yearneth alone
The forests with wandering emotion
The thing they know not intone;
Creation arore but to see it,
A million lamps in the blue;
But a lover, he shall be it,
If one sweet maid is true.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD SOLDIER?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT SEEMS to be generally supposed that if there were no great armed force in the world except the international police this body of men would be deficient in quality and courage. We have an idea that men can only fight when they are fighting for their country.

What about city policemen? They are agents of no faction or party, but stand for the protection of the whole people. And they are not wanting in efficiency nor sense of duty.

The other day Patrolman John O'Connor took a drunken man home to prevent him from being injured and then, as he took a taxi back to his post, was himself killed when the taxi was smashed in a collision.

This young policeman furnished but another example of that heroism and devotion to duty with which the police force has made us familiar.

The point to be made is that he recognized no "enemy" except the wrongdoer.

The soldiers and sailors of the United States do not go out to face death for the Republican party or the Democratic party, for the labor unions or for the capitalists.

The master whom they serve is the whole people.

If there were an international police force whose duty would be to preserve order and suppress criminality wherever found they would be an even finer body of men than those officers who serve the crown of England, the republic of France, or the emperor of Japan.

The idea that soldiers cannot fight unless they are imbued with hate of the enemy is erroneous.

They can do a better kind of fighting and be a better kind of men if they represent the law-abiding element of mankind rather than the particular contentions of any portion of mankind.

The human nerve is still weak in us because up to the present stage of the world's history we have been developing only the national and racial nerve, but there is a possibility of enthusiasm for humanity that is even greater than any possibilities of enthusiasm for one's native land.

The most significant religion that has ever gained its domination over men comes from that Christ the very basis of whose teachings was the universal brotherhood of the human race.

There is no reason why each nation should not preserve its national spirit and develop its national traditions and at the same time deny itself the use of force for the common good.

There is no reason why the citizen of the United States, of Turkey, or of Chile should not be as gallant a soldier and as courageous a man when a member of the international police force as he is at present when a member of his own national guard.

Somehow or other we must come to world consciousness. And the indispensable element of any world organization that shall relieve mankind of the horrors of war and free the human race from its age-old shackles of hate and vengeance is that the armed forces of the world shall be under control absolutely of the international court of the world.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

[NO YANKEE WANTED]

A man with an Irish name has petitioned the President to recall Ambassador Harvey from England because of his recent speech in London, in which he rejoiced in the fact that he was descended from English ancestors, and that all the people of his native town in Vermont were of English blood. In the opinion of the petitioner the ambassador is more proud of his English blood than of his American birth, and this is set forth as an argument to show him unworthy of representing the American people and of sufficient importance to justify his dismissal from his diplomatic post.

For appointment as ambassador to France, Italy, Germany or any other country a man of American birth descended from men of the country to which he is our accredited representative would be considered particularly well qualified, if in character and ability he were properly equipped for his duties. In matters concerning the Vatican and the Catholic church, a member of that church who is an American citizen would appear to be a proper person to represent our country in negotiations.

For an American descended from French, Italian or Irish ancestors to say pleasant things about the people of France, Italy or Ireland at a public banquet in one of these countries would be courteous and natural. But an American of English blood who speaks in a friendly and brotherly way to Englishmen in London is sure to arouse the ire of a certain type of Irishman, who regards hatred of England as the first duty of an American

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

Occasionally a criminal lawyer acquires such a reputation that to consult him is the tacit admission of guilt.

Bootleg whisky has scored another murder in this community. It was only the average run of "white mule."

A prisoner who has been bunkoed by his keepers can't be blamed for being peevish as he tells about it.

A girl washed dishes continuously for thirty-one hours. The great triumph was in the fact that she did not break any.

and English blood in American veins as a reason for shame.

Emigrants and the descendants of emigrants who came to America centuries after the English colonization have been welcomed to our land, and have enjoyed the benefits of American citizenship. To be descended from the early English colonists is surely no disgrace, and when our ambassador in London says a few words of praise of the English, instead of insulting his hosts, there is no excuse for a narrow-minded descendant of men of another race to occupy space in the newspapers to display hatred of everything that bears the name of English.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Many thousands have read Emerson Hough's "The Covered Wagon" or have seen it portrayed on the screen, a beautiful and thrilling spectacle.

HENRY JAMES

Another story by the same author has just completed appearance in serial. This is "North of 36." It is the tale of brave men, and of the opening up of a new world. Each story may be regarded as an epic of that Great West, which has received now the mantle of civilization. It is still a geographical fact. In naught else is it the region of which Hough wrote.

These tales have a distinct historical and sociological value. The literary work is not to be disputed, but to the student of America who desires to know its genesis, the stages of its development, the commingling of forces that wrested the land from the Indian, and made it the home of a mighty people, these are the important things. And Hough wrote with accuracy, and with a love for his theme.

It is depressing to reflect that Hough's pen has been forever laid aside. Before the last of the final story had been printed, he was at rest. Probably he had in mind the writing of more, touching the early day that had been so fruitful a topic.

There is nothing surprising in the fact that a rotten condition of affairs has been found in the Los Angeles county jail. Indications of such status had been abundant.

In this instance the sheriff is the person most active in the lopping off of the unfit. He was not responsible for them, they having been wished on him, and firmly entrenched before he was called to office.

Discovery has been made that drugs have been sold freely to the inmates of a Philadelphia prison.

Of course, this sort of thing could be absolutely stopped were the officials in charge honest. In Philadelphia politics honesty long has been a quality little appreciated.

Perhaps Bill Hart of the movies doesn't care, but the fact is that the public never has ceased to regard him as one of the admirable figures in the moving picture world. For the most part the charges brought against him have been given no credence.

When sectarian gentlemen meet and squabble over points of dogma it would surprise them, doubtless, to realize the utter lack of importance that the world in general attaches to this phase of their conduct.

In its big work for good the church may depend upon public sympathy and support, but as to its splitting of the theological hair, enthusiasm wanes.

It is not often that the will of a rich man is marked by so broad a spirit as indicated by the last testament of the late Arthur Letts. It seemed to embody the thoughtfulness and high character of the great merchant.

The talk of Borah for President would make greater impression if the gentleman belonged to a party, or at least represented a principle that could be defined.

Borah is mostly a roar in the negative. Nothing he has said or done lends itself well to construction of a platform or formulation of a policy.

La Follette also aspires to the highest office in the land.

There would be some chance for him if the person living in retirement at Doorn, and the populace of Germany, were entitled to vote.

Under the immigration law it sometimes happens that arrivals from abroad are sent back whence they came. As most of them have severed all connections with the old home, and said goodbyes meant to be final, the result is severe hardship. By proper caution at the original port of departure, it would seem that such untoward experiences might easily be prevented.

When Detroit needed $2,000,000 the other day it didn't even have to mention the matter to Wall street. It merely mentioned the matter to Henry.

This emphasizes the common belief that times have changed.

Certain weak minds have a passion for confessing to commission of crimes of which their knowledge is but casual. Occasionally the confession relates to a wholly imaginary episode.

There comes to light the case of a woman who, smitten by great love for a man, although she never had seen him, proclaimed that he was father of her child. Another singularity was that she never had had a child.

Douglas Fairbanks, winner of fame and fortunes in the pictures, says he regrets that his son of thirteen years is about to enter the same calling. The son happens not to be under the father's control.

It is natural to sympathize with the view of Mr. Fairbanks. Thirteen is not the age at which a lad should be taken from his books and thrust into the public eye. The public does not need him, and it isn't fit to be the boy.

The entire cast of a play put on in New York has been convicted on the ground that the play is immoral. Sentence has been deferred until some time in June.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

It was not prompted by good business judgment. I know Old Man Cook too well to believe that. It came about because he has a vile temper and thought he saw a good chance of annoying his office heads. And I'm bound to say he did. Young Penny, who runs the retail end, said to him one day:

"Some firms are paying the golf dues for their office men nowadays. Keeps 'em fit, you know. They make money by it in the end." Old Man Cook just snarled.

But the next day he called in his office heads and repeated to them what Young Penny had said.

"I don't believe in golf," said he. "It's just a fancy way of loafing. But if you fellows want to keep fit, I'll pay for a course at the gym."

They assembled the next day at 4 o'clock and Old Man Cook was there. He sat on a high chair while the instructor put them through their painful paces. At the close of the demonstration he notified them that he would be there every day. He didn't propose they should cheat him out of the exercise he paid for. And he did not want to hear any excuses. His men must arrange their engagements with a view to diving into sweaters at two minutes to 4.

Young Penny said that for a time it was pretty tough. None of them had done any real work for years and they were as stiff and muscle-bound as street-car horses. But when they began to limber up they felt like two-year-olds. They were putting more pep into business than they had since they were kids. The best proof that it pays to be physically fit is that Old Man Cook's continuing to stand the cost.

"I get better returns on that hour in the gym than on any other hour I pay for," said the old man.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK

DOES NOT CARE FOR LOS ANGELES

Gets Pinched in Traffic
Jam by Los Angeles
Cop

Jesus Castaneda is in sore distress because he went riding on Sunday in Los Angeles. City Clerk F. S. Webster and Chief of Police Marshall Long, have written to tell Los Angeles officials of Jesus Castaneda's standing in Burbank. The account is that the city employee was riding in the long procession of cars that one sees everywhere on Sunday. The man in front stopped suddenly. This made Castaneda stop more suddenly and the man back of him ran into his car and pushed it forward. So he was pinched between two cars and pinched by a motorcycle cop in Los Angeles. The damage to the car was bad enough he thought but having to see the Los Angeles police court judge is even worse so Castaneda may not go riding any more upon a Sunday morning, at least not in Los Angeles.

"Understand now," said the irascible diner, "when I'm dining I don't wish to be disturbed by anybody—not even if it's the Pope." "All right," agreed the waitress, "and you want me to tell that to the Pope if he should happen to drop in?"

HAS CERTIFICATE FOR GRAPE JUICE OWNERSHIP

Mike Castalano produced a certificate before Judge A. A. Crawford this morning which showed that he was permitted to have two gallons of grape juice in his private home. This reduced the charge against him. Since his home is a fruit stand frequented by the public he violated the Volstead act.

Judge Crawford said the Volstead act had eighty-eight thousand words in it and after studying it he discovered that if Mike had kept his grape juice in his own private home cellar his permit would have held good. As it was he was fined $75 on two counts, that of having and that of storing alcoholic liquor (for the grape juice had, unbeknownst to Mike, turned to wine) in a public place.

Mothers and daughters dined in fine style Monday night at the Methodist church when for the first time a banquet was given for every mother and daughter in the community. Nearly three hundred sat down to the long tables in the dining hall of the church.

Mrs. Roy Pendall served as toast-mistress. After the elaborate dinner she called upon Virginia Hare who gave a toast to "Our Mothers." Mrs. Drury of the High school responded with a toast to the daughters.

Miss Soper of Glendale who has spent several years in Japan, spoke. Miss Marion Shaley, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Lovejoy at the piano, sang.

EVERYTHING IS READY FOR BIG-MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM AT GRAND VIEW CEMETERY

Patriotic and Civic Bodies Have Prepared an Elaborate Observance of Day When Nation Joins in Honoring Heroes of America

Burbank's entire thought is concerned with the big Memorial Day program when the community will honor the heroes of the nation. Beginning at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, Company I will meet at the armory. After reveille has sounded the flag will be raised to half mast and taps sounded. From there the company will march to the Edison school grounds where school children, civic organizations and all patriotic bodies will participate in brief exercises, with Mayor Crawford giving the address of the morning.

The townspeople will march to Grand View cemetery, where the American Legion burial ground will be dedicated.

The schools had one big practice march this morning, so that everything will move like clock work Wednesday.

L. F. Collins, superintendent of grammar schools, sent out the following instructions for the line of formation, to his teachers:

Memorial Day Program

The schools are co-operating with other organizations to make the big Memorial Day program a success. Memorial Day is a truly great American day. It is fitting that on that day we should join in a patriotic program in honor of our white-haired G. A. R. soldiers, our Spanish-American war veterans, Red Cross nurses and the heroes who gave their lives in the last great world war.

At 9:00 a. m. every pupil should be present in his or her classroom. In case any pupil can not be present, he should let his classroom teacher know by Tuesday noon in order that she may have the marching formation prepared.

There will be a brief program in front of the Edison auditorium, in which the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls will give the Pledge of Allegiance.

At 9:30 pupils will begin to get into marching formation, which will be as follows, north of Second, on Magnolia:

Color Guard from Van Nuys, Five and Drum corps, G. A. R. Spanish-American war veterans, Service Flag (carried by six girls), American Legion, National Guard, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, flower girls.

The Luther Burbank school pupils will follow the flower girls, kindergarten first, lined up on the sidewalk on the west side of Magnolia.

The Thomas A. Edison pupils will follow the Luther Burbank. They will be lined up on the east sidewalk of Magnolia, in the following order of groups:

Following order of groups: Mrs. Pershing, Mrs. Rustemeyer, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Dunn, Miss Norris, Miss Farrar (Miss Diss' girls), Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Sproule (Miss Diss' boys), Miss Smith, Miss Clary, Mrs. Benson.

The John Muir pupils will follow the Thomas A. Edison group and will be lined up in the space between the Edison school and the Magnolia avenue sidewalk (back of the slide).

The line of march will be east on Second to Orange Grove, north on Orange Grove to Fourth, and east on Fourth as far as the farthest street car. The Luther Burbank (primary) pupils will march back to the Luther Burbank school.

The other pupils will board the cars in group formation and ride (free of charge) to Grand View cemetery, where they will at once get into good marching formation again to march in order into the cemetery.

After exercises at the cemetery are over the pupils should return in formation to their same cars to ride back to Burbank. Pupils should stay with their group and teacher throughout the entire program.

Please do everything in your power to help make MEMORIAL DAY A SUCCESS.

Very truly yours,
LEONARD F. COLLINS,
Superintendent of Grammar
Schools.

SCOUTMASTERS PICK OUT CAMP SITE FOR BOYS' OUTING THIS SUMMER

Dr. Wilson, Dr. Tillson and Mr. Thomas Accompany Scout Executive Benner on Trip to Little Bear Lake

By SCOUTMASTER E. H. WILSON

Last Saturday morning about 4:30 o'clock a carload of Burbank men left Burbank to join with another carload of men from Glendale, their destination being Arrowhead lake, and the object was to search out a spot for the summer camp of the Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills district. Leaving Glendale shortly after 8 o'clock, a fast run was made to San Bernardino, where the company assembled and marched into the Harvey House just after a transcontinental train had pulled out for Los Angeles. After some waiting the eggs, toast and breakfast food arrived and was enjoyed by all.

Leaving the beautiful city of San Bernardino, we began to ascend the slopes of the San Bernardino mountains. Leaving the paved road we began to climb, with the dainty little Overland of Dr. Wilson in the lead as a pathfinder. Seated in the car with Doc were Capt. Frank C. Tillson of the local National Guard company (occupying the seat in front as the assistant driver, in which position he served admirably as the floor boards will prove by being still present that he had full confidence in the driver); the rear seat held E. B. Thomas, the Scoutmaster of Troop No. 2 of Burbank, and the renowned Harold F. Benner, Scout Executive of our district, acting in the capacity of official guide and expeditionary captain.

The second car of the expedition was a Cadillac owned and driven by Mr. George Bentley of Glendale, and included in the passenger list, France Henry, Frank C. Ayars, Peter L. Ferry, Roy L. Kent, A. R. Eastman and Leo L. Lang.

The long climb to the top was made in an uneventful manner, with the exception of a few short stops for the purpose of photographing the view.

Arriving at the village of Arrowhead we spent some time in viewing the lake and wandering around "till Scout Executive Benner secured for us the aid and cooperation of a ranger to conduct us to several sites for consideration. Driving for several miles around the side of the lake we left the car and hiked up over a ridge and down the other side for a site of one of the meadows. Finally deciding it would be too far to pack, we turned back (before we finished the last quarter of a mile and the last drop of 500 feet) to the car and then drove several more miles back to the site upon which we finally decided.

It is situated at the junction of two mountain streams, with nice large pine trees well scattered over the scenery. It will not do to describe all its wonders, lest we take some of the anticipation away from the boys. Suffice it to say that in all nature there is no more wonderful nor beautiful camp site to be found.

By this time the inner man was demanding attention, so we returned back toward the village and were about ready for a good, substantial lunch when the fire signal was sounded. Jumping into the cars once more, with the ranger on the running board clearing the road with his whistle, we rushed madly down the steep mountain grades till we reached the road at the nearest point to the fire.

Leaving the car, we climbed the steep slopes of the mountain and, forgetting our hunger and everything else but the safety of the life in the mountains, we worked valiantly with axes, shovels, sticks and even with our bare hands. The smoke was very intense and several were almost overcome. After several hours of quick hard work the fire was ditched on all sides, and the guards were posted to watch that it died out without further danger.

When the danger was over, Chief Benner, who had done as much work as anyone else, climbed back to the car and retrieved the camera, and once more back up that steep grade that we might come back with proof of our story in a photograph.

Permits for Monday Run to $7200

Burbank building permits for Monday continued the high score set for the past few days of the month. Elmer Dale issued the following permits which totaled $7200.

Jack Smith, Shelton tract, $1500. Lemmond Riddell, Mariposa street, $2000; J. B. Cameron, 140 East San Fernando boulevard, $200; L. C. Page, Valencia avenue $1000; Herbert Hays, 410 East Fourth street, $2500.

Look here, waiter," said the angry customer. "I have just found this trouser button in my soup." "Oh, thank you," exclaimed the waiter with a beaming smile, "thank you, indeed, sir, I couldn't think what had become of it."

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING

The Glendale merchants are pledged to honest advertising. The blandishments, the cunning artifices and misleading use of words often employed by a certain class of "go-getters" have no place in the business creed of the merchants of this city who have banded together to stamp out advertising that is not sound to the core.

The merchants of Glendale are opposed to all methods of "drumming up trade" that do not stand
"four-square" and that will not bear the calcium light of accuracy. The merchandise they offer to the people at all times is exactly as represented.

The merchants of Glendale believe that the making of money is not the sole object of business. They believe that Service should be the first aim of a business house. For, plainly, it is an axiom that the man who underestimates the importance of Service to his customers soon has no customers to serve.

ART AND ECONOMY IN HOME BUILDING

Design Submitted by the National Builders' Bureau

YOUR SON

When your boy becomes a man he will be the living expression of your teachings. His habits of thrift, his character, his true citizenship or good or ill fortune will reflect the examples you have given him.

As you influence the thought of your boy now, his status in life will be—your boy's success or failure. When he faces the world as a man, it depends entirely on your guidance of him in the right direction now.

You hope for him advantages which, perhaps, were denied you. You have seen real estate opportunities that would have been of immense benefit to you if your forbears had foreseen them when you were a boy.

There are ten such opportunities now to every one then, and they will be of still greater value to your boy when he becomes a man. Visualize the wonderful opportunities for profit which real estate offers. Lead him to thrift and good citizenship. Start him on the road to owning a home, by saving and meeting payments on a lot.

YOUR DAUGHTER

As a Father, it is up to you to give every possible protection to your daughters and give to them the best time consistent with your circumstances, no matter how it bores you to do it.

If you insist on daughter remaining at home every evening you should be fair enough to give her the privilege of entertaining at home. Let your daughter and her friends feel free in your home. Strive to make your home the favorite gathering place for daughter's friends. If there be constant restraint young folks will go where more sensible persons reside.

It may be a task for you to go after your girlie when she is out at evening functions or little parties, but you would be pretty selfish if you denied her evening entertainment of the right sort just because you did not want to be disturbed.

Also, you should appreciate the protection you can be to her, never let her shift for herself, but look after her wherever she may be.

REMEMBER, a home with playground, flowers, trees and sunshine is the birthright of every child. It is in the early years of youth that character is formed, when home teachings make lasting impressions and where love and sentiment play an all-important part in creating healthy, practical minds and bodies which in the years to come will reflect success and your own good intentions, thoughts and efforts in their behalf. The educational influence of your children's home environments is broader than "Business"—deeper than "Society," and calls for any sacrifice you may be called upon to make in creating and making a practical, convenient, modern home a reality.

Today, while labor and materials may be produced at reasonable prices, is the time to build.

APACHE STATE GREET'S BIRDS

[By Associated Press]

TUCSON, Ariz., May 29.—Not all of Arizona's visitors are human beings. Professor Charles T. Vorhies, entomologist at the University of Arizona, is authority for the statement that Arizona is on the yearly visiting list of 129 species of migratory birds. Of these, fifty-seven species spend the winter here, while seventy-two prefer the hot months of summer. Approximately 100 other species of the aerial tourist are transient guests. Some of these, en route to winter or summer homes elsewhere, stop here for a visit of courtesy; others, aimless wanderers of the bird world, appear infrequently and for no particular reason.

Perhaps the most interesting of these winged visitors are the water species, a wide variety of which have been found in the state, most frequently near Yuma. Professor Vorhies attributes the appearance of these inhabitants of the water in a region where desert conditions predominate to the proximity of the state to the Pacific coast and the Gulf of Mexico.

OLD FRIENDS

I like old songs, where all the hearts
Were "tender and so true."
I like old flowers, the magnonette
And pansies velvet blue;
I like old books with memories
Where love with fancy blends,
But best of all in all the world
I like, I like old friends.

I like the hands that warmly clasp
This offered hand of mine.
I like the lights of friendliness
In eager eyes that shine,
I like the voices that are dear
With sympathy and kind,
The eyes that read my good deeds clear
And to my errors blind.

Old friends, whose tears are welling up
As mine are, when we meet,
And we drink recollection's cup
With wine in, rare and sweet.
The memories of olden days,
Of skies' once cloudless blue,
The paths and the familiar ways
That I have trod and you.

Old friends and all the olden whiles,
These hearts of theirs and mine,
That speak in dear and mellow smiles,
These memories that twine
Above, around, about and through,
Whose circle never ends,
In all the world of me and you
No treasures like old friends.

LONE MISSIONARY REFUSES TO LEAVE DANGEROUS POST

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 29.—The story of the zeal of a lone missionary on one of the uncivilized islands of the Solomon group, who was rescued from the hands of head-hunters, but refused to be taken away from his chosen station, has just been brought to Sydney by an island schooner. Men aboard the schooner, hearing the island, saw a number of natives in war paint dancing around a blazing fire, according to their story.

The captain, believing that some person might be in danger, armed the crew and sent them ashore. They fired a volley over the heads of the natives who ran into the bush. The crew investigated a

STATE PROBES DEATH REASON

[By Associated Press]

HELENA, Mont., May 29.—With more courage than hope, the Montana Historical Library has undertaken three difficult tasks: The first to disprove the general belief that Territorial Governor Sir Francis Meagher, exiled Irish patriot, was intoxicated when he fell off a steamboat and was drowned near Fort Benton; second, to cut down the number of sole white survivors of the Custer massacre to a reasonable number if not, to the zero point; third, to disprove the charge that Major Marcus A. Reno was guilty of cowardice in the Battle of the Big Horn, June 25-26, 1876.

In lieu of the first impression, the Montana library has statements from pioneers who were with the Irish-American statesman and warrior on the day when he met death to the effect that he was suffering somewhat from the effects of a long ride in the hot sun and had not been drinking on that day. In this respect, too, the state historians claim the body was never recovered instead of having been found variously from points on the Missouri river in North Dakota to the mouth of the Mississippi at New Orleans.

Against the second so-called fallacy the Montana historians say there are no "sole white survivors" living who were in or who saw the Custer massacre and only a few Indians still alive.

To supplant the third general belief the state historical society has secured a copy of the United States War department report of an inquiry conducted March 11, 1879, which is lengthy and involved but the substance of which sets forth that the man for whom Reno, Nev., was named stayed all of his orders on the day of the battle, and, under General Sherman's signature, declares there was no evidence of cowardice.

European-built house and found a white man inside, praying on his knees. He said that he was a missionary and had been on the island for a year. Sickness had broken out among the natives and he had been blamed for the loss of life. The natives had sent their womenfolk into the bush and started a war dance. As that was a sign of future trouble, he had locked himself in the house.

The missionary was importuned to abandon his idea of staying among the natives, and invited to come aboard the vessel for safety. He refused, however, and the ship sailed away, leaving him at his lonely and dangerous post.
